

YAWOSUP UPDATE REPORT NOVEMBER 2023

We give thanks for WMT that has remained the key stakeholder and funder of Yala Widows and Orphans Support Project. The support from WMT has brought hope to many vulnerable children in Yala Division. Many widows have benefited from house construction projects where more than 15 houses have been built since the beginning of the partnership.

Many orphans continue to benefit through provision of school uniforms, scholastic materials, and school fees payment. In this reporting quarter, we provided relief food to widows and caregivers of orphans and vulnerable children, supported the organization's staffs by provided salaries and also gave support to Barbara Leighton Academy to provide quality education to the children. The majority of children learning at this school come from very poor and low-income earning families. The school has been of great help to them in terms of quality education and feeding program. Many children from the community are now able to start school early enough unlike previously when late school enrollment was the order of the day.

Most parents who survive on casual work also get relieved as they are able to take their babies to the day care section of the school and go for their daily chores.

The greatest challenge we currently face in Kenya is the frequent increase in taxation which causes cost of living to skyrocket nearly every day. The situation is worsening as many people cannot afford even the basic needs. It is our prayer that this will not go longer than this.
